

Planning a Holiday? HIA Insurance Can Help.

We've all had nightmares about booking the perfect romantic escape only to arrive and find it's over run by schoolies. Arranging a holiday can also be pretty stressful when there's not just your enjoyment riding on it, but that of your partner, friends or family. To help you plan your upcoming holidays we outlined a few tips.

1. Choose the right destination

The key to finding the right holiday is to ask yourself - "What do I want from this holiday?"

If you want to spend time with family or friends, choose somewhere easy and convenient to travel with a group perhaps a cruise or a local holiday house. If you want to travel with your partner to somewhere romantic consider a bed and breakfast or an island escape. If you are seeking active adventure or exotic cultures there are many international destinations to choose from.

Next grab some brochures from your local travel agent, ask a well-travelled friend or search online to find the holiday that meets those needs.

2. Organise your booking

Whether you want to run to a schedule or fly by the seat of your pants, there are some simple things you can do to ensure you are well organised:

- Sign up to airline and travel e-newsletters so you're the first to see good deals.
- Reserve airline tickets and accommodation if possible at least a month in advance and always ask people for their best price.
- Write a list of things you need to pack, pop this list in your suitcase so you remember to bring everything home again as well.
